

Daily Opening Checklist

Tap & Burger | Front of house and back of house

Prepared for Mark Strazisar

Tap & Burger | Front of House and Back of House

This is a sample deliverable built for a casual, multi location burger and beer concept. It is a complete daily opening checklist a team can follow every morning to open clean, safe, and ready. It also works as a template. Replace the concept name, the times, the equipment, and the point of sale name with the real ones, and it is ready to print and laminate.

How to use this checklist

Each section has an owner. The opening manager owns the whole open and signs off at the end. Every person initials their own section as they complete it. Anything broken, missing, or unsafe gets written in the issues box at the bottom and reported to the manager before doors open.

The goal is simple. When the first guest walks in, the building is clean, the team is briefed, the food is prepped, the beer is cold and pouring, and nothing is a surprise.

Suggested timing for an 11:00 open is shown next to each section. Adjust to your hours.

1. Opening manager, arrive by 9:00

The manager sets the tone for the whole day. Do these first.

- [] Disarm alarm and unlock the staff entrance
- [] Walk the building for overnight issues: leaks, pests, temperature, smell, security
- [] Turn on lights, music at open level, and HVAC
- [] Check that the building is at the right temperature
- [] Pull the previous night's closing report and confirm closing was done right
- [] Read any notes from the closing shift
- [] Check the reservation or large party book for today
- [] Count and set the point of sale drawers; record starting cash
- [] Confirm the schedule and that all opening staff are present or accounted for
- [] Review the 86 list and today's features with the kitchen
- [] Check that all opening staff are in clean uniform and ready
